

Kiwanians Host To Guard Officers

TALKS GIVEN BY GEN. WILSON AND PICKERT

The members of Grayling Kiwanis club were privileged to be the hosts to Maj. Gen. Guy M. Wilson and his staff officers, and Brig. Gen. Heinrich Pickert of the 63rd Michigan Brigade and a number of visiting Kiwanians at the dinner last week Wednesday evening. Among the officers present besides the above were Col. Samuel Pepper, Col. Leroy Pearson, Col. Stearns, chaplain; Col. Carl Cooper, Maj. Harold Furlong, Capt. Frank Millard, city attorney of Flint; Capt. Hollingsworth, Ann Arbor; Capt. Norwick of the Air Corps, and Lt. Kelly. Besides these officers there were quite a number of Kiwanians from among the guardsmen in attendance.

The dinner was held at Shoppenagons Inn and the meeting presided over by Dr. Clarence Clippert, president of the Grayling Club. The program was opened by Mrs. Clippert and Mrs. Roy O. Milnes with a group of vocal duets. It is always a treat to hear these talented ladies sing and they received generous applause at that time, and many fine comments from some of the guests.

After informal introductions, President Clippert extended a cordial welcome to the guests and visitors. Maj. Gen. Wilson responded and assured the appreciation of the officers and men of the Guard of the opportunity to return "Home" to Grayling each year. He commented upon the fine spirit of social and business cooperation between the National Guard and the people of Grayling.

Gen. Pickert, who had this year been promoted from the office of Colonel and commanding officer of the 182nd Field Artillery of Detroit, to that of Brig. General of the Michigan Brigade, had everyone smiling at his running fire of interesting and witty remarks. He also remarked about the fitness of the Edward E. Hartwick Pines Park that had been dedicated a few days before. He told of his meeting with Major Hartwick in Paris during the war and how later that he went to visit Major Hartwick and learned for the first time that he had passed away. He paid a fine tribute to Major Hartwick as a soldier and a citizen.

A few brief remarks were offered by Maj. Harold Furlong of the 182nd Field Artillery, but he failed to relate that he was the possessor of a Congressional medal presented him for heroic service during the war. Attention to this was called by Gen. Pickert.

It was a wonderful meeting and was attended by about 75 people.

Boy Scout Doings

Last Wednesday, a small band of scouts hiked out to School Section lake carrying with them blankets and provisions for an overnight stay. After a dip in the lake wood was gathered and blankets spread around a camp fire. About 10 o'clock everyone "rolled in" with the ground for a mattress and the sky as a ceiling. Next morning the day was started with a dip in the mirror-lake after which breakfast was cooked and eaten. After packing up the camp the trip back to town was completed.

On the following Friday evening a larger group hiked up the East Branch where a shady bend supper was cooked. A game of "work up" was followed by the exciting game of "capture the flag." After a tough battle Jr. Lovely led his team to victory over Walter Skingley's crew. The losers had to toast the marsh-mallows for the victors.

Monday night saw another group leave town on another trek into the wilderness for an overnight stay. Our newest recruit, Charles Glover, carried his pack all the way like a veteran. Some of the scouts learned the art of handling a hot fryingpan handle. Last night another hike was scheduled. This time a longer tramp was taken and more fun had as the result.

New recruits to Troop 72 include Dewey Coutts, Bob Herbinson, Esborn Olson, Vernon Rasmussen, and Herbert McDonald. Jack Wright, a second class scout, has also transferred to the Grayling Troop. More boys are joining up as soon as they can pass their tests and earn the necessary 50¢ for the years dues.

The summer program for the Scouts consists of two afternoon or evening supper hikes and one overnight jaunt each week. On the afternoon hikes each scout carries his supper and for the overnight trip he adds blankets and breakfast.

Former Scouts and those wishing to become scouts, meet with the regular scouts at 6:30 P. M. Friday, August 2, in the gym at the school house. Tenderfoot tests will be given and all Scouts who have not taken the Scout Oath and Law or passed the Tenderfoot tests will be expected to work on them during this meeting. Patrols will be formed and patrol leaders and their assistants appointed. Plans for a Scout camp and future hikes will be discussed.

On next Monday, August 5, the patrols will leave town at 4:00 P. M. with supper, breakfast and blankets on a Tracking and Trailing overnight hike of about four miles. One patrol will go ahead leaving a trail which the rest will have to follow in order to find the camp site.

On Wednesday, August 7, the patrols will leave the meeting place on an evening Treasure Hunt and Supper Hike. This hike is scheduled for 5:00 P. M. sharp.

1 Killed, Many Hurt In Auto Wreck

Mrs. Frank H. Kroner, age 71, of Winterville, Florida, is dead and several are injured as a result of an auto accident about five miles north of Grayling on U. S. 27, early Wednesday evening.

In the car with Mrs. Kroner was her daughter Mrs. Robert P. Shaw of Tulsa, Oklahoma, who was driving, and the latter's daughter Martha, 13 years of age. The car driven by Mrs. Shaw had a tire blowout just as it approached a car coming from the north and smashed head on into it.

In the other auto was Mrs. George Close and children Christine, George and Frederick and Miss Barbara Kirchmeier. The family resides at 2125 Hawthorne Road, Toledo.

Witness to the accident say that neither car was travelling fast. Both were badly damaged and the occupants severely cut and bruised but none seriously injured. George Close, age 13, received a fractured wrist. Mrs. Kroner appears to have been thrown partly out of the auto and when the car landed her body was crushed. Grayling Laundry truck brot the remains of the dead woman to Grayling.

The Close family have been spending some time at the McIntyre landing at Lake Margrethe. It is said that Robert P. Shaw had been a chemist at the Dow Plant in Midland and that the family had recently moved to Oklahoma.

Mrs. Kroner was the mother of Mayor Kroner, Military attaché at the U. S. embassy, London, England.

GOLF NEWS

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Golf Club enjoyed their usual fine pot luck luncheon Wednesday afternoon. At the business session at which the president, Mrs. Milnes presided, it was decided to hold a bridge tournament each Wednesday during August, with the exception of August 14, when the West Branch ladies will be guests of the club. A silent golf game in the afternoon caused a lot of fun. Its news when women can play 9 holes without speaking a word. Every time they spoke they were fined a stroke. Mrs. R. O. Court-right won the match with the low score of 54. Mrs. Geo. Olson was second with a 60 and Miss Jayne Keyport third with a 61.

At the bridge game Mrs. O. Schumann received the prize for the high score.

Next Wednesday the golfers will start a handicap tournament, playing mornings at 9 o'clock. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock the bridge tournament will start and the scores will be totaled at the last meeting in August.

GRAYLING GOLFERS TRIM WEST BRANCH

Last Sunday was West Branch day at the Grayling Golf Club, when about 18 of their players came here to fight it out with the local players. Grayling took 19½ points out of a possible 25½, leaving the visitors with a lowly 6.

It was a great day, however, regardless of how the match ended. As usual when Grayling and West Branch fellows get together they have a lot of fun. That day was no exception.

Some good scores and some poor scores were made on both sides. B. Sargent of West Branch turned in a score of 92 while Bill Courtwright of Grayling had an 86. He was closely followed by Carl Johnson with 87 and Esborn Olson with 88. The lowest nine holes played was by R. O. Court-right with 36 or one under par.

Next Sunday Gaylord players will come to Grayling for a match.

Ford V-8 Exhibit At Burke Garage

Featuring an interesting display of mechanical equipment, including the latest developments of Henry Ford's great motor plant at Dearborn, the famous Ford V-8 Exhibit, the traveling 1935 automobile show, arrived in Grayling Tuesday for a showing at the George Burke Ford Sales.

The exhibit, traveling here under its own power and headed by an attractive broadcasting car, was placed in the showrooms at the central attraction of a program of entertainment and demonstrations. Talking motion pictures accompanied the exhibit and lecturers explained the many interesting features on display.

Included in the exhibit were six new 1935 Ford V-8 passenger cars—a de luxe roadster and a de luxe 3-window coupe, a Tudor and a Fordor touring sedan, a cabriolet and a convertible sedan.

The touring sedans are the very latest models in automobiles. A Ford V-8 station wagon makes the seventh display car.

Every available upholstery was displayed in the various cars on exhibition. The Tudor touring sedan, upholstered in wool suede, is finished in the new gunmetal color. The Fordor touring sedan, in green enamel, is finished with Bedford cord upholstery. The convertible sedan, the cabriolet, and the de luxe roadster are upholstered in leather.

The motion picture, "Rhapsody in Steel," shown to millions at the Ford Exposition at the Chicago World's Fair, told the story of manufacturing and assembling Ford V-8 cars.

"Forward with Ford" explained a series of trials and tests of the new Ford V-8 in moving pictures, and "The Gilmore Road Race" showed "Stubby" Stubblefield winning the 250-mile classic for stock cars in a Ford V-8 at Los Angeles.

The various features of the cars in the exhibit were pointed out in two slide films, "The New Ford V-8" and "This Greater Value," while the various interests of Henry Ford at Edison Institute and Greenfield Village in Dearborn were shown in the slide film, "Looking Forward Through the Past."

A slide film covering "Through the Rouge Plant" and a phonograph record giving a talk on the Ford V-8 chassis completed the evening's free program.

Displays of Ford exchange parts and the new Ford laboratory test set, carried in a new Ford V-8 panel delivery commercial car, also attracted considerable attention.

At the showrooms, demonstrations of the new Ford V-8 passenger cars were arranged during the morning and afternoon. Lecturers accompanied the exhibit to explain the displays and to answer questions on the methods by which the Ford V-8 is produced at the great Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company.

Special demonstrations announced the arrival of the exhibit, and meetings of Ford salesmen and dealers from the surrounding territory were called during the morning. Several Ford dealers from surrounding towns visited the exhibit during the day.

JOHN BUGBY SUCCEUMS TO ILLNESS

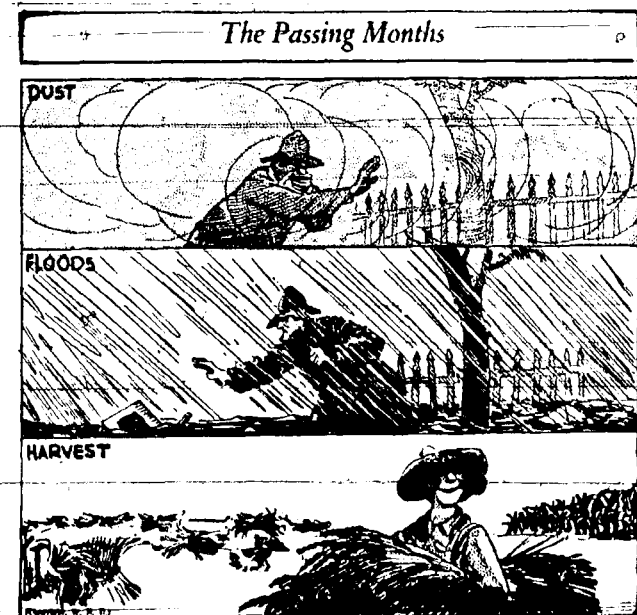

John Bugby, a resident of Grayling for close to twenty years, passed away at his home Monday evening following a lingering illness. Although he had passed his 80th milestone and had been ailing for some time he was very active. He was admired for his pluck for he kept going as long as he had any strength left, taking care of his vegetable and flower garden right up to the last week. Finally Tuesday he had to give up and he failed rapidly until the end Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

On June 21st, when Mr. Bugby celebrated his 30th birthday the family held a reunion here pleasing the old gentleman very much with all his children and their families around him.

Mr. Bugby was loved by his family and was a good neighbor and friend. He was a native of England and when he came to Grayling came here from Pinconning. About that time the du Pont company was in operation and he worked for them until they ceased operations here. Later he assisted Julius Nelson in his dairy business and of late had chored at the restaurant of his son James Bugby.

The remains were taken Monday night to Pinconning and the funeral is being held this afternoon. Surviving the deceased are two daughters and five sons. Mrs. Frank May, Miss Ila, Eggie and James Bugby of Grayling, Tom, George and Charles of Pinconning, also 18 grandchildren. Interment will be beside the remains of his wife in the Pinconning cemetery.

Friends extend sincere sympathy to the remaining members of the family in their bereavement.

4-H Clubs At The State Fair

More than 31,000 Michigan boys and girls, all members of 4-H clubs, will contribute in some way to the livestock and handicraft exhibits to be shown in the Boys' and Girls' 4-H club building at the Michigan State Fair this year, it was announced Saturday by A. G. Kettunen, state club leader.

Michigan's 4-H clubs membership, growing yearly, is keeping pace with the growth of the organization nationally. Kettunen disclosed. There are now more than 950,000 4-H Club members in the United States.

The clubs were started in 1914 in the southern states by virtue of the Smith-Lever law which provides that funds from the United States Department of agriculture be allocated to the various states for the support of 4-H extension work.

The set-up of the Boys' and Girls' 4-H club building at the State Fair, Aug. 30 to Sept. 8, has been decided on, Kettunen announced.

"As you enter the building, situated in the center of the grounds just across the corner from the Administration building, you will be confronted with a display of 4-H clothing club exhibits representing the finest sewing efforts of more than 13,000 rural girls who have been engaged in the clothing project during 1935.

"While you are in this room examine the crops, garden and egg displays. Even though the small space limits these exhibits, they represent a very extensive activity of farm boys and girls.

"You should not leave this part of the building until you have examined carefully the 4-H Achievement Booth exhibits of four girls and four boys who have been selected from the three districts in the state.

"Each of these booths will tell the achievement story of a worthy 4-H Club member. From this group will be selected the two members—a boy and a girl—to represent Michigan at the 1936 National 4-H Club Encampment at Washington, D. C. The Michigan State Fair Association pays the expenses of Michigan's two delegates to this encampment.

"In an adjoining room you will find more clothing exhibits and displays of Hot Lunch and Food Preparation posters. In this room will be exhibited many practical properties of cooking efficiency and you will see a 4-H demonstration team at work.

"In the opposite end of the building will be the girls' dormitory which provides sleeping quarters for girls who are participating in the judging and demonstration contests.

"The second story provides housing facilities for boys. On the days devoted to 4-H club contests and demonstrations these dormitories are filled to capacity."

CAR DESTROYED BY FIRE

The fire department was called out to quench two fires this week. Tuesday, a partition of the M. C. round house caught fire from an unknown source, but was put out so quickly that very little harm was done.

Early Wednesday evening a Lincoln automobile, belonging to Thorvald Sorenson, caught fire from defective wiring. Mr. and Mrs. Sorenson had just returned home from Houghton Lake and had just reached the house when the car burst into flames. The alarm was immediately put in, but the flames made such rapid progress that the upholstery and top were entirely destroyed, leaving only the framework. At the time, the car carried twenty-five gallons of gas, which, miraculously did not become ignited.

LADIES AID GIVE POT-LUCK DINNER IN HONOR OF REV. AND MRS. FLOREY

A pot luck dinner followed by a program, was given Friday evening by the Ladies Aid of Michelson Memorial church to welcome Rev. and Mrs. Edgar Florey, who have recently come to the community, the former as pastor of Michelson Memorial church.

Following the dinner Miss Geraldine Goddard, of Fenton, read two very clever selections; Mrs. June Underwood sang two very pleasing solos, and Mrs. Edith Michelson gave some of her own poems which are always enjoyed, which were followed by a few welcoming remarks by Emil Giegling. Mrs. C. G. Clippert rendered two very beautiful solos which were followed by a very inspiring talk by Rev. Florey, which closed the program.

Rev. and Mrs. Florey having been recently married, the Aid surprised them with many useful gifts which were presented to them one at a time by little Emily Giegling and Alice Johnson of Hale, later in the evening.

Those present spent a very delightful evening with the Floreys and their church friends. The Avalanche joins in extending a welcome to the new pastor and his wife.

LEAVE THE KIDS ALONE

It looks as tho some of the older men in town are going to get in decidedly wrong with a lot of our young lads if they insist that they must wear bathing suits at the "Old Swimming Hole."

This favorite spot of the young boys, and some of the older ones too, has been used as a swimming hole for a lot of generations and it's a dandy. Secluded as it is on the AuSable river down back of the Michigan Central bunk house, here the youngsters may doff their clothes and dive in with no thought of needing a bathing suit. The kids say it's great and they don't want to have to be handicapped by having to wear bathing suits. Besides, "How's a fellow going to carry a bathing suit along with him all summer. He wouldn't have time to walk home to get it every time he wants to swim," says one of the young indignants. "And who has the right to tell us we can't swim there without suits?"

We're for the youngsters in their protest. This is no place for girls to swim. Close by the swimming hole is an old established hobo camp and for that reason it is no place for women. Besides most of the dads of the youngsters who swim there these days, did their swimming in the same spot. Here the water is clean and pure; and is in one of the most secluded spots in northern Michigan. This has been the kids' swimmin' hole for a half century. It's a decent place and there is no evidence of immodesty as it is now being used. If grown-up desire to swim there, OK. Let them have their bathing suits, and they should have, but leave the kids alone. They're doing no harm and they're having a lot of fun. They don't need an auto to get there and the youngster without one isn't deprived of his swimming.

We have heard that some believe the girls should be privileged to use this fine swimming hole. For them there is Lake Margrethe with one of the finest bathing beaches in Michigan. Or if they can't get there, the East Branch river affords many good swimming places. Leave the kids alone.

After The Rails
Are Abandoned*SOMETHING TO THINK AND TALK ABOUT

Some eighteen months ago the Omaha Railroad abandoned its branch line from Sioux City, Iowa to Wynot, Nebraska—a distance of about twenty-five or fifty miles. The line had been operated at a substantial loss for some time prior to its abandonment and because of its proximity to Sioux City most of the business which it would have normally carried was diverted to trucks. When the petition for abandonment was presented by the railroad to the Interstate Commerce Commission, that body granted a stay of one year to determine whether or not the people living in territory tributary to the line wanted railroad service or not. After the year of grace had expired the I. C. C. granted the petition of the railroad and the tracks were torn up.

The truckers assured the townspeople and the farmers that they would be entirely able to fill their transportation needs. They pointed out that the bulk of the transportation services was already in their hands and that they could handle what little remained.

Now let us see what has happened in this Sioux City—Wynot territory. First of all the grain rate by rail to Sioux City and east was three cents per hundred from the farthest points on the line. Now the rate is ten cents a bushel to Sioux City. Coal was laid down in the furthest town for twenty cents a ton, while at present truckers are offering to deliver coal to close-in points at two dollars a ton. Farm values have depreciated from 50% to 75 per cent. Some farmers are selling from a railroad. Homes in the towns erected at a cost of $4,000 are begging for buyers at levels as low as $500 and there are no buyers. Lastly the Omaha road paid $28,000 each year in taxes and this sum has been shifted over to the remaining taxpayers.

This is not a nice picture, yet if the rural merchants and the rural community does not awaken, it is a scene that is going to be enacted in scores of towns that are today thriving points.

Question Box
By ED WYNN
The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Last night about midnight my husband returned home so terribly intoxicated I had to put him to bed. This morning he said he was to a party and admitted he had been drinking but "claims" he had only one glass. Do you believe that?

Yours truly,

MRS. AULTHEFEN.

Answer: Certainly I believe he only had one glass, but ask him how many times it was filled.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have been studying economics, and of course the prices of the different commodities occupy most of my attention. In a discussion last Sunday I took the stand that every known commodity has gone up in price during the past ten years. Am I right?

Sincerely,

LILLY BOQUET.

Answer: You are not right. Everything has gone up but writing paper; that will always remain stationary.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I read in a newspaper some time ago about four Scotchmen who each put 25 cents in a pot as a wager. The bet was to see which of the four men could stay under water the longest and the one who did was to win the money. I have been unable to find out which Scotchman won the money. Can you tell me the result of that wager?

Yours truly,

SANDY COMPLEXION.

Answer: They all drowned.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I go with some boys, and we are all around twelve years old. The other day we found a full pack of cigarettes, and we all smoked. While we were smoking, a minister came over to us and asked us if we knew where little boys who smoked cigarettes go to, and we all said no. He said he was a minister, so could not tell us, but he said, if we wrote to you that you would know. Will you please tell us where little boys go when they smoke?

Sincerely,

I. N. HALE.

Answer: When little boys smoke, they go up an alley.

English Salt

One million nine hundred and ten thousand tons of salt are made in England every year, and nearly all of it comes out of Cheshire and Warringtonshire. Most of it is used in chemical factories, but a good deal as fertilizer. Three bushels per acre of salt increases the yield of wheat by four to twelve bushels per acre and salt is an excellent fertilizer for pinks, carnations, and celery. Some plants, however, do not like it. Among these are the apple tree, the cherry, and the vine. In dressing land with salt you can have too much of a good thing, for sixteen bushels per acre will destroy all plant life, including weeds. Salt is one of the most widely distributed of all minerals. It is even thrown out by Vesuvius and other active volcanoes.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

ENJOYING TRIP THRU EAST.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schreiber of Dearborn are enjoying a vacation trip through the east and a letter written to relatives, no doubt will be read with interest. Mr. Schreiber is the son of Mrs. Hugo Schreiber Sr., and the latter is the daughter of Mrs. John Love. The letter is as follows:

Schenectady, N. Y., July 1, 1935.

Dear Folks:

The time goes so fast, but we are having a wonderful time.

Terrible warm here; going to cook supper in the park.

9:45 P. M. daylight saving time. Just got back. Went 7 miles to a beach and cooked supper. New potatoes with jackets on, eggs with jackets off, combination salad, bread and butter, tea and coffee, green onions and pie, and we eat like hay makers.

We left Detroit Tuesday, June 25th, 9 A. M. went over Ambassador Bridge via Windsor to London, Galt, Paris and Guelph. Stayed all night at Mr. and Mrs. Meyers; left next morning 9 A. M. for Hamilton to St. Catherine to Niagara Falls where we stopped a half hour. Left for Rochester, N. Y. to Syracuse, Utica. Left Warren Brandt from Highland Park here, and stayed all night at a beautiful home putting up tourists. We found they were old friends of the Brandt family. Had a post office and store in Boonville, N. Y. when the Brandts lived there. We left next morning, Thursday, for Schenectady and got there at 3 P. M. but did not hurry as the scenery was grand. Really words cannot express the beauty of it. We came across the bridge "Gateway to the West" to the Van Curler. Van Curler settled Schenectady in 1660 and it was burned by the French and Indians in 1690. A sign to that effect is posted and over it is a silhouette in iron of a house and children running out the back door and Indians rushing in the front yard with torches and bows and arrows. You never notice the picture in the daytime but tonight we happened to look up and it was just getting dark; some light at the west where the sun goes down makes the picture show up beautifully.

This place is full of land marks of revolutionary times. Well says he knows my great great grandfathers Henry Love's leg must be around here somewhere. We are at the Alexandria. We went through WGY broadcasting station, belonging to General Electric. Tomorrow we are going through the House of Magic, also of General Electric.

Yesterday we went over a route where the first stage coach went from Schenectady to Troy in 1793, over the Hudson River to "The Top" an elevation of 2,242 feet, finest scenic view in East. Can see Berkshires Mts., Mt. Greylock (highest point in Mass.), Mohawk Trail, Adirondacks, Catskills and Hoosac Range, 2 blks. into Mass. Over Green Mountains (Mass.) up to Vermont to Bennington, Manchester over Dorset Route 30 between Mts., to St. Catherine's Lake to Poultney, Sav State Quarries; drove to Lake Champlain, over Buck Mt. to Ticonderoga. Saw the Fort, went through it. To Lake George to Chestertown, Glen Falls to Saratoga Springs. I never have seen such immense hotels. Will say they were very wonderful to the gay 90's.

I have bored you with this description. I never dreamed I could get East or see mountains so this is a very eventful time in my career, never to be forgotten.

Must close now. Hope everybody is fine.

Will and Mary.

SEES INFLATION A SLOW PROCESS

A Real Danger for the Future, Col. Ayres Tells Banking Groups.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Prospectors do not indicate that inflation severe enough to cause for the dollar devaluation will come soon in this country, but as an ultimate development it seems to be a very real danger, Leonard P. Ayres, Vice President Cleveland Trust Company, said here tonight in an address before the Graduate School of Banking. He believed this statement to be true "unless the government enters frankly upon a policy of issuing fiat money with which to meet its expenses." At present that does not seem to be in sight, he said.

The Graduate School is operated jointly by the American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association and Rutgers University to offer advanced studies for bank officers.

"We have so enormously increased the capacity of our banking system for credit expansion that it is difficult to see how we could have a vigorous business revival without having it develop into a credit inflation," Colonel Ayres declared.

Inflation is a slow process. If inflation does come it will be a slow process, he said, pointing out that in Germany, France, Belgium and Italy it took about five years to develop from the time when the governments entered upon policies of financing large pecuniary deficits by bank credit up to the time when the public generally began to spend money rapidly because of fear that it would still further depreciate.

"If we are to go through such a period here it would seem likely that it might last rather longer than the corresponding periods did abroad," he said. "Its beginning would date from the spring of 1933," when we left the old gold basis for our money and entered upon the policy of financing large government deficits by the sale of Federal securities mainly to banks rather than to private investors.

"The method that we are following is the one that proved disastrous in Europe for in all those countries including Germany, the increasing issues of money that caused the inflation were not mere printing press issues of fiat currency, but were secured by government bonds and notes discounted at the banks."

Among the clearest lessons taught by the European experience, Colonel Ayres asserted, is that there are "no good hedges against inflation," he added.

Did Not Lighten Debt Burdens "One of the strange facts about these inflations is that while they destroyed the values of most existing debts, they did not succeed in lightening the debt burdens of either the people as a whole, or of the corporations."

"Inflation destroys the value of bonds and mortgages and so concentrates the property of these holders of obligations and hands it over to the shareholders and the equity owners. However, it introduces so many new economic difficulties that these share and equity holders are at once forced to incur new indebtedness so that when stabilization comes the problems of debt are about as troublesome as they were before, or even more so."

The five requisites of inflation were listed by Colonel Ayres as first, a period of sustained active business; second, a rising stock market; third, real credit expansion; fourth, greater outflow of gold "than we can tolerate which would force us to cut our currency entirely free from gold"; and fifth, continued large budget deficits in government operation.

Significant economic developments to be expected in the next decade are listed by a prominent business writer as follows: (1) Higher standard of living (2) Continued advances in technical processes of production (3) Factory built houses, better and cheaper than hand made houses (4) Somewhat cheaper money (5) Faster travel (6) News printed by radio (7) Mechanical cotton picker, revolutionizing the South (8) Cheaper electric power (9) Better distribution of goods, more chain stores (10) Another depression five or six years hence, preceded by an inflationary boom.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a boy twelve years old, and am in the fifth grade in school. In my English lesson for next week I must write an essay in which I have to use three words meaning the direct opposite to the following three words: "Misery," "Sorrow," and "Woe." I know the opposite to "misery" is "happiness," and I know the opposite to "sorrow" is "joy," but the other word strikes me. Will you please tell me the opposite to "woe"?

Yours truly,

DICK SHONARY.

Answer: I am surprised a boy of your age doesn't know that the opposite to "woe" is "gladness."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Would you be kind enough to tell me the best way to remove paint?

Yours truly,

I. STAINESKY.

Answer: Sit on it.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Will you kindly settle a dispute for us? In our town there is a strike on the trolley car line and the cars are being run by volunteer men, with the result there have been several accidents. What we want to know is this: "In case of an accident, what is the first duty of the conductor and the motor man?"

Yours truly,

VIOLET RAYS.

Answer: In case of an accident the first duty of the conductor and the motor man is to blame it on each other.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

After a wedding ceremony the minister generally says, "I now pronounce you man and wife." My mother always says that she and her father "ten." How does she make that out?

Truly yours,

SUE PERILLEOUS.

Answer: Your mother probably figures that she is "one" and your father is "nine."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Suppose your father was worried on for appendicitis and after the doctor cuts him open he finds out he cut him open by mistake. What does the doctor do?

Yours truly,

ANN S. THETIST.

Answer: "Sows" your old man & says "well, well."

OUTDOOR MEALS

AS PICNIC days are here again, we turn to our lists of good things which we have enjoyed and plan a picnic lunch. Those who find some food hard to digest will enjoy them and have no discomfort when eaten out of doors after a brisk hike, or even a stroll through the woods.

When packing a lunch, remember to put in some of the foods that add zest, such as green onions, fresh radishes, cucumbers and a few pickles, sweet and sour. Pickled beets, onions, chow, are all delicious which are enjoyed with the other food.

The sandwiches may be cut and made just before serving, with lettuce, a slice of cucumber and onion as filling. Baked bean sandwiches are always enjoyed for a hearty meal. Serve them with sliced sour pickles.

Most picnic lunches are made up of starchy and sugar foods. Some of these are needed but the alkaline foods will be needed or head-aches and indigestion will result.

Fruits, green vegetables, celery, tomatoes, are all good to combine with the sandwiches, rolls and cakes. Meats are acid forming foods and should be used sparingly.

With the crisp lettuce carried in a towel, well wrapped, add sliced oranges or tomatoes or apples and serve with a French dressing all prepared and carried in a tight jar or bottle.

With all the disadvantages, snakes, mosquitoes, poison ivy, the more we picnic, the more we learn what to avoid and the more pleasure we get from them.

At one time there is a stream of clear water or a spring, all the green things may be kept cool and fresh as if taken from a refrigerator at home. Much can be said of the sunshine, the glorious, out of doors, trees, grass and flowers, sun baths, swimming, games, and just loafing when you picnic. They all outweigh the discomforts, which most stomachs and disturb the regular routine.

President's Way of Ending Virgin Islands Row Arouses Criticism—Senator Black Probes for Truth About Utilities Cigar Box.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© Western Newspaper Union

THAT row over the administration of the Virgin Islands was so unpleasant that President Roosevelt felt impelled to settle it himself. So he removed from office the two chief battlers, Gov. Paul M. Pearson and Judge T. Webster Wilson, and had other jobs found for them, and nominated as Pearson's successor Lawrence W. Cramer, who was serving as lieutenant governor of St. Croix island.

Confirmation of the latter appointment there was not immediate. The senate committee investigating the island affairs was slow in making up its mind about Cramer, and from St. Thomas came the news that the acts of the Pearson administration there, together with a delegation from St. Croix, were protesting vigorously against the President's selection of a new governor.

The Emancipator, opposition paper, said editorially: "The islanders would about as soon have Pearson, for under Cramer no change of policy can be expected. Poor and unknown as the humble people of the Virgin Islands may be, they are entitled to an example of honor and courage from the President of the American Republic."

The disposal of Pearson and Wilson also aroused criticism in Washington. The former has been attacked steadily by Pat Harrison of Mississippi and other Democratic senators, but Secretary of the Interior Ickes had defended him warmly, so he was given a job under Ickes, being made assistant director of housing in the PWA at $20,000 a year, a place not previously filled.

In order to provide a job for Judge Wilson, a former congressman from Mississippi and a protégé of Senator Harrison, a woman was named to the federal parole board. Attorney General Cummings requested and obtained the resignation of Dr. Amy T. Stannard, a psychiatrist who has been in the government service 12 years with a civil service status and had been a member of the parole board since 1920. Wilson was sworn in as his successor. Since Wilson's qualifications for the place appeared to be chiefly political, observers in Washington noted sadly that the parole board was getting back into political bias.

PARTIAL investigation of the milk industry by the federal trade commission was said to have revealed deplorable conditions and the administration asked for $200,000 to continue the inquiry. The senate committee in considering the deficiency appropriation bill cut out that item altogether, but when the measure came before the senate Duff of Wisconsin moved an amendment adding the sum asked. After a hot debate this was approved by a vote of 51 to 18 and the bill was then passed. The numerous senate amendments had added a total of more than $800,000 to the house measure, so the $300,000,000 bill was sent to conference.

WHAT was in the cigar box wrapped in a newspaper? That is what Senator Hugo Black, chairman of the senate lobby committee, wanted to know. Before the committee for questioning was John W. Carpenter of Dallas, president of the Texas Power and Light company. He admitted freely that he and other utility men had hotel conferences, dinners and a trip down Chesapeake bay with congressmen during the fight over the Wheeler-Rayburn bill, and that he himself had centered his efforts on Texas congressmen. But of the mysterious box he could or would tell nothing. Black probed and probed, and finally asked:

"Do you still say that in the morning (of the day before the vote on the utilities bill 'death sentence') you didn't give a congressman a box wrapped up in a newspaper?" Carpenter replied quietly: "I don't think I did, unless it was a few cigars."

Senate and house conferees met to consider the utility control bill, but there were small signs that they could get together, and one session ended abruptly in a real row. Two administration lobbyists, Benjamin Cohen and Dozier A. De Vane, were brought into the executive session by Senators Wheeler and Barkley and though Representative George

Huddleston protested, their continued presence was insisted upon. Whereupon the fiery Alabama congressman and his fellows from the house walked out and broke up the meeting. Cohen is generally given credit for writing the measure and Wheeler has said he knows all about it.

After leaving the committee room, Huddleston said flatly that the house conferees would not recede from the position that the "death sentence" must be eliminated.

OPPOSITION of the AAA amendments designed to strengthen the powers of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace decided to let the basic act go up to the Supreme court, so the administration bill was passed by the senate with only 15 adverse votes.

Both Republican and conservative Democratic foes of the AAA are confident that the Supreme court will hold the basic act unconstitutional and an early test is assured by a senate amendment permitting suits to recover processing taxes that have not been passed on to producers or consumers. One of the major purposes of the amendments was to close the courts, but the senate rejected this scheme by a vote of 41 to 23. As a result, the Hoosack Mills case, in which the Boston Circuit Courts of Appeals held the AAA unconstitutional, will not be thrown out and the highest tribunal will have a chance to pass upon it.

Amid so much adverse criticism, the action of the Midwest farm leaders gathered in Chicago must have been something to Mr. Wallace. Resolutions were passed praising the secretary and congressional leaders for their efforts in behalf of "agricultural equality."

The farm leaders urged senate approval for the commodity exchange bill, passed by the house, and asked re-establishment of the Pacific Northwest Wheat Export corporation under the AAA to prevent wheat surpluses in that area from competing with Midwest wheat and other grains.

The meeting voiced opposition to the plans for transportation coordination, suggesting farmers would profit more by competition among carriers.

IMMEDIATE convocation of the League of Nations council to deal with the Italo-Ethiopian question was demanded by Haile Selassie,

Emperor Haile Selassie

of Ethiopia. On his behalf the demand was telegraphed to the league secretariat at Geneva by Tachia Hawari, an Ethiopian minister to France and delegate to the league. He insisted that the council proceed to the examination of the situation under article XV of the league covenant, Ethiopia invoking this article because of the "threat to her independence from Italy."

British dispatches said Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and leading members of his cabinet were believed to favor full league action, if other nations agree, as a last resort to avert the threatened conflict. Diplomatic quarters in London heard that the British government probably would alter its policy and permit export of arms to Ethiopia. The emperor's new minister there, W. C. Martin, had a conference at the foreign office and came out smiling happily, but saying nothing.

Previously Mr. Martin had admitted that Ethiopia was short not only of arms but also of money. "At the moment we have very little money," he said. "I am doing all that is possible to raise loans in London, but thus far I have not met with a great measure of success."

Stories have been published that there are large secret funds available and that Emperor Haile Selassie has a treasure hoard of gold and jewels, but that is wrong, I am over here to offer concessions for gold, copper, and oil in return for loans, but the London bankers with whom I have had discussions do not seem willing to part with their money. The attitude of the City of London men seems to be that if Italy defeats Ethiopia it will not recognize concessions granted other countries by Ethiopia."

TOM HEFLIN of Alabama once more is on the federal pay roll. The big former senator and representative who was bented in 1931 by Bankhead has accepted an appointment as administrative assistant for the Atlanta district of the Federal Reserve administration. The job pays $8,000 a year.

CHESTER C. DAVIS, AAA administrator, and his fellow officials were grievously shocked when they were shown this classified real estate advertisement in the Globe of Joplin, Mo.:

"Dandy way to make money. Buy this 13 acres for bug raising. Sign up with the government to not raise, say, 500 hogs. It will pay you $1,000. That will pay for the acres and have some left."

"It's preposterous!" exploded Mr. Davis. "It's at least preliminary to fraud. It's deliberate misrepresentation and not in any way possible. I shall begin an investigation at once."

PERMANENT federal control of the liquor business is provided for in a bill which was passed by the house and sent to the senate with prospects of early adoption by that body. The measure, which creates within the treasury a new agency to be known as the federal alcohol administration, was asked by the President to replace the FACA killed by the Supreme court's NRA decision. Mr. Roosevelt wanted the new agency to be an independent office, but the house decided otherwise.

DETERMINATION of the Nazis to put an end to "political Catholicism" in Germany and their consequent drive against Catholic youth organizations may bring on results more serious even than has the Nazi anti-semitism.

General Goering, head of the secret police, gave out a warning to Catholic priests to be careful in their comments from the pulpit, and Franz Guertner, minister of justice, issued a decree threatening prosecution for any priest violating Goering's injunction. Throughout the country generally the Catholic clergy was cautious, but in Freiburg, Baden, where the Goering order had not been published before Sunday, the priests read in their pulpits a letter from the episcopate calling the Nazi action a violation of the concordat with the Vatican. To this charge the Nazis reply that the Catholics were the first to violate the concordat by making attacks on the Hitler youth movement in their parish papers.

This new "pursue" by the Nazis includes a renewed crusade against the Jews and dissolution of the Steel Helmets, veterans' organization in various provinces. The Jews are helpless and, if Julius Streicher has his way, will be all driven out of Berlin or segregated in ghettos. But the Steel Helmets, whose chief is Minister of Labor Franz Sedler, are likely to cause the Hitler government a lot of trouble. The organization's weekly paper is using language that is not often heard in Germany these days, and Sedler is denouncing the reason for suppression of the local divisions.

THAT wholly un-American procedure, the general strike, was tried out by organized labor in Indiana and the 67,000 inhabitants of Terre Haute were deprived of all food supplies. The local authorities of Vigo county called on the governor for help and Mr. McNutt promptly ordered 14 companies of the National Guard to the scene. Brig. Gen. Wray De Prez, in command, promised the merchants who had been hauled into shutting their shops would be given protection, and said his first endeavor would be to restore the milk and ice service. This had been cut off even from hospitals and homes with sick children.

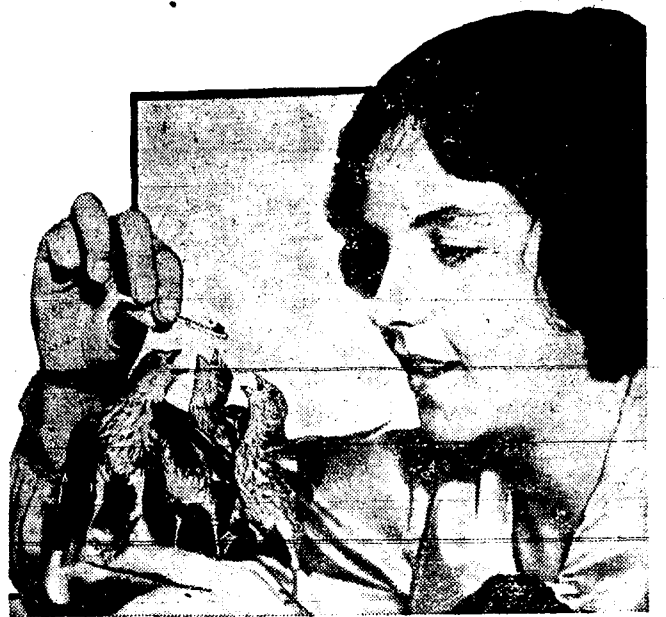

The general strike was called by 48 unions without warning, because labor leaders had been unable to reach an agreement with the Columbian Enameling and Stamping company. Some 600 of that concern's employees went on strike in March and the plant was closed down, but the union leaders thought it was about to be reopened by strikebreakers.

Conciliators from the Department of Labor arrived and within 48 hours the general strike collapsed and was called off by the union officials in charge. The strike at the stamping company, however, continued in effect and several times the troops were forced to use tear gas bombs to disperse riotous mobs.

Terre Haute merchants estimated that the two days' strike cost them at least half a million dollars. The state spent probably $50,000 in maintaining order by use of the troops. The state federation of labor asserted the sympathy walkout was unauthorized—which didn't help much.

MAYOR LA GUARDIA of New York has created an international incident all by himself. He backed up License Commissioner Paul Moss in his refusal to license one "Mr. K." to work in the metropolis as a massage operator because he is a German. The German diplomatic officials were preparing to complain to the State department that the city was violating the German-American commercial treaty of 1923. But Mr. La Guardia declared the treaty is null and void because Germany has discriminated against American citizens of Jewish origin.

Good Samaritan Aids Helpless Birds

THEY were just three baby sparrows in need of protection when Frances A. Urban, fourteen-year-old high school girl, saw them dapping about helplessly in her back yard in Hollywood, Calif., and decided to befriend them. At her home, the girl placed them in a cage near a window. A day later she heard a flutter and saw a grown sparrow, then two, beating wildly against the screen. Suspecting the visitors were the birds' parents, she placed the cage in the yard and opened the door. One of the birds flew in with worms and fed them, daily.

Ingenious One-Wheeled Motorcycle

FLAUNTING laws of balance and engineering, Walter Nilsson, Los Angeles inventor, has built a one-wheeled motorcycle at a cost of $5,000. The unicycle is a wheel within a wheel, with a one-cylinder motor driving the outer wheel forward. In a test Nilsson rode the cycle 15 miles an hour with the motor in second gear. He believes that with the addition of a pneumatic tire the wheel can make 100 miles an hour. Sitting in a cushioned seat, he operates the wheel very much like a motorcycle, except that he rides inside the wheel, which is steered by a secret device.

DANNY FINDS A REFUGE

AS DANNY MEADOW MOUSE anxiously looked this way and that way for a place to hide from Buster Bear, a sharp, squeaky voice almost in his very ear made him jump. "What are you doing over here, Cousin Danny? Aren't you lost?" said the sharp, squeaky voice.

Danny turned quickly to find a little round hole in the ground.

"Now," said Whitefoot, "You Have Nothing to Worry About From Buster Bear."

between the roots of the tree, and just inside was the tiny little head of his cousin, Whitefoot the Woodmouse.

"Oh!" cried Danny, "Buster Bear is trying to catch me, and I don't know what to do."

"Come in here," replied Whitefoot promptly.

Danny didn't need a second invitation. He darted in just as Buster Bear reached the tree on the other side. Buster promptly tried again the trick by which he had so nearly caught Danny. He reached a great paw around the trunk of the tree and brought it down swiftly. But he was too late. There was no one under that big paw. Buster watched and listened, but he saw nothing and heard nothing. Then he walked around the tree to investigate. There was no sign of Danny Meadow Mouse. But between the roots of the tree was a little round hole.

"Huh!" grunted Buster Bear, and began to dig furiously.

Now Buster Bear's claws are long and stout and when he sets out to dig he makes things fly. But Whitefoot the Woodmouse knew all about those great claws, and when he made that little round hole he made it right under the big roots of that tree. It didn't take Buster long to find out that it was quite useless to try to dig out Danny Meadow Mouse. You see, those big roots were in the way. So after a minute or two of useless digging Buster gave up. It was foolish to waste time there when he might be hunting for and finding sweet little beechnuts. So, grumbling, deep in his throat, Buster walked off and once more began to rake over the leaves in search of beechnuts.

Meanwhile Danny Meadow Mouse had followed his cousin, Whitefoot the Woodmouse, along a little tunnel some distance away from where he had entered. It was a very nice little tunnel. Danny said as much as he scurried along after Whitefoot. Whitefoot was pleased but he didn't say anything. He just scampered along and Danny followed. After a while they came out in the heart of a big, hollow stump.

"Now," said Whitefoot, "you have nothing to worry about from Buster Bear. Tell me what happened and what are you doing so far away from home."

MRS. EMMA MILNES PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Emma J. Milnes, widow of the late Orlando Milnes, and one of Grayling's pioneers, passed away at the home of her son Lucy Saturday forenoon following an illness that had lingered since Christmas. Infirmities of old age were the cause of death, and life just gradually ebbed away.

Emma J. Schaeffer was born in Fremont, Indiana, in 1856 and in 1879 was united in marriage to Mr. Milnes. The Milnes family came to Grayling forty-three years ago, but shortly after located at Frederic, Vanderbilt and Lewiston, where they operated hotels. Returning to Grayling in 1911 they took over the Burton Hotel and at that time that was Grayling's best hotel. Mr. Milnes passed away while they were there and so the family a few years afterward gave up the business. From that time on Mrs. Milnes had made her home with her children. She was one of Grayling's most estimable citizens and her friendship was valued highly by her friends.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Milnes home with Rev. Edgar Florey of Michelson Memorial church officiating. At the service Mrs. C. G. Clippert and her father Mr. Edward Webb sang very beautifully, and interment was in Elmwood cemetery.

Surviving the deceased is a daughter and two sons, Mrs. A. J. McInnis, Detroit, Eno K. Milnes, Chicago, and Roy, Grayling. Also six grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Also one sister Mrs. Maud McRae, Indianapolis. All have the sympathy of hosts of friends.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere appreciation is extended to our friends for the beautiful expressions of sympathy in our late bereavement.

Urges Payment Of Delinquent Taxes

Crawford county taxpayers can save all interest and penalties on taxes for 1932 and prior years, providing that the original amount on these taxes is paid before Sept. 1.

This applies to all state, county, township and school taxes.

For those taxpayers who are unable to meet their tax obligations in their entirety, an alternative plan has been provided by the state legislature in the 10-year tax moratorium plan, created by the Moore-Holbeck Act, providing a simple, deferred-payment plan by which taxes for 1932 and prior years can be paid in 10 equal installments, starting Sept. 1.

First Due By Sept. 1st
The entire amount or any number of installments may be paid by Sept. 1 without penalties, but at least one installment must be paid by that date. After Sept. 1, interest accumulates at four percent per annum on all unpaid balances, dating from Sept. 1, 1935. If the property owner pays up his entire balance after one year, the interest charge will be only four percent; but if he takes advantage of the full 10-year period, the interest charge on the final payment will amount to 36 percent.

To illustrate the workings of the principle payments and interest, if the taxes for 1932 and prior years are paid on the 10-year plan, here is offered a theoretical tax of $100 to show how the plan works:

If paid in full before Sept. 1 the $100 tax would be only $100 when paid to the treasurer. But if the property owner allows this tax to be carried over in ten payments, the total payment at the end of ten years, in 1945 would be $118 figured on the accumulating interest rate at the four percent per annum.

1933-1934 Relief Provided
While it is highly desirable to pay back taxes for 1932 and prior years, it is equally as desirable to pay the 1933 and 1934 taxes, for which the state legislature also has made special provisions.

The 1933 levy may be paid by Nov. 1 with no interest or penalties, except for a single four percent collection fee. After that date, the 1933 taxes are subject to a penalty charge of 194 percent, plus interest at three-fourths of one percent per month after that.

The 1934 taxes which are delinquent on the same basis as the 1933 taxes with the same penalties except that the interest charge after Nov. 1 will be 104 percent. There is, however, no provision whereby 1933 and 1934 taxes may be paid on a deferred basis.

The state tax law provides that back taxes not paid in accordance with the above provisions shall be offered at public sales May 5, 1936, by the auditor general of the state. At that time unpaid 1933 taxes and the first installment of 1932 and previous years will be sold to private bidders.

Camp News

Camp Higgins

M. S. Gerred, camp superintendent, reports Kalkaska county authorities are considering advisability of taking over one of the truck trails constructed by Camp Higgins Lake and making a county road out of it. The proposed highway would considerably reduce the distance from Grayling to Kalkaska.

Capt. N. D. Young, 4th forestry sub-district commander, is on leave of absence this week to visit his home at Fort Sheridan.

For recreation during the hot weather frequent trips are being made to Higgins lake with swimming parties. Enrollees have been cautioned against swimming unless they go in groups that are supervised. This is to lessen possibility of accidents. Last week two enrollees from this camp, Ernest Brabant and Paul DeLisle, were taken to Camp Five Lake for a week's training in life saving by Red Cross instructors. It is expected they will instruct groups in swimming and life saving here.

Carl Harris is designing an exhibit for Camp Higgins Lake to be used at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit August 31 to September 9. The exhibit will illustrate the camp's work projects.

A. D. Baulbetsch has been assigned to this camp as a junior forester and has started work here.

The camp has 10 entries to date in a tennis tournament that will be played in connection with a baseball and horseshoe pitching tournament now in progress.

Harold Lassen of Roscommon, an LEM enrollee here, who has been at station hospital, Fort Wayne, since early in May with a broken knee cap, was home over the week end and expects shortly to be returned here for duty. He reports William Sullivan and Aloyse Skipski, other members of the camp now in the same hospital, as making excellent progress. The former was injured in a fire early in May and is still in bed. The latter broke an arm and will shortly be back to camp, it is expected.

Chaplain of the Camp-Custer CCC district will hold a meeting here August 6 and 7, it is planned. Capt. Todd, chief chaplain for this district and formerly stationed here, will preside. Maj. A. N. Stark, Camp Custer CCC District Commander, and Capt. N. D. Young, 4th forestry sub-district commander, are on the program as speakers.

Work on the company's new mess hall to replace the one lost in May by fire, will be completed this week, it is expected.

Jack Stoffel has been discharged to accept employment in his home town of Traverse City. He enrolled in April, 1934, and for a time was leader of barracks four.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I am a coed, at a well known college, and am crazy about a boy my own age who goes to the same college. He gave me a lovely cigarette holder for my birthday and his birthday is next Saturday. I saw a whisky flask, in a shop window, which was made to look like the seven of spades. Don't you think that is a cute present to buy him? Sincerely,

LILY KUPPS.
Answer: The present is all right, but he's liable to leave it on a table in some fraternity house, and some other student might come along with the eight of spades and take it.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
My wife and I had an argument last night about the army. My wife says, in order for a man to be buried with "military honors" he must be a captain, while I say he must be a general. Which of us is right? Yours truly,

LEW TENANT.
Answer: You are both wrong. In order for a man in the army to be buried with full military honors he must be dead.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
Every month, a club I belong to, holds a meeting at which all the members have to tell a story on a subject which is told us a week before the meeting. The subject for our next meeting is: "The Stingiest Man I Know." Will you tell me the stingiest man you ever met? Yours truly,

O. COMM TELMEE.
Answer: The stingiest man I ever heard of was a man who fell overboard and as he was swimming ashore a policeman hollered to him that it was $50 fine for swimming in that river and when the man heard that he just threw up his hands and sunk.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I bought a new suit, the other day, and the first time I put it on, the coat split up the back. How do you account for that? Yours truly,

L. PICTICT.
Answer: The buttons were sewed on too tight.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON
THE BANDITS WASTE THEIR TIME

A YOUNG "bandit" describing a criminal career which will put him behind bars probably for the best part of his life, announced that his whole "career," which included a number of robberies and hold-ups, had netted him only $50. The stigma of crime, a medium of harm to his fellow men, his life ruined—for $50!

The comment is obvious that a similar amount of interest, enthusiasm and effort expended on constructive work would have brought this deluded young man at least a good living, peace, security, respect. And it might have brought him a good deal more. It is unbusiness-like to try to get something for nothing. There are petty little ways of attempting to get something for nothing. These are exemplified perhaps more by women than by men, for men are more business-like and it is unbusiness-like to try to get something for nothing.

It is always a waste of time and energy, it never pays—this trying to get something for nothing. And in addition there is the unpleasant feeling of dissatisfaction which every normal person must feel with the consciousness of "trying to get away with something."

Found Sun's Power

The unknown individual who first focused its rays with a magnifying glass and set a splint of wood or piece of paper on fire, accidentally discovered, although he might not have known it, the power of the sun. Later came others refining on this discovery with larger magnifying glasses and concave focusing mirrors which concentrated the rays so that their heat boiled water, thus producing steam which might drive engines.

"Little Stories for Bedtime"

by Thornton W. Burgess

WHAT DANNY MOUSE WAS DOING

ALL the time Nanny Meadow Mouse at home on the Green Meadows was worrying herself almost sick because Danny Meadow Mouse didn't come home. Danny himself was too busy with his own troubles to even think of Nanny. He had been trapped in a hollow log by Billy Mink and then Billy had been frightened away by Mrs.

"I will have to trust to luck," thought Danny. "Yes, sir, I will have to trust to luck. There isn't anything else I can do."

Just then he heard heavy, shuffling footsteps. Now, who was coming? Danny's heart began to go pit-a-pat, as he peeped out from under the leaves. What he saw made his bright little eyes almost pop out of his head and his head and his heart almost stopped beating. Shuffling along straight toward him was a huge black form. Never in his life had Danny felt quite so little and helpless. He knew who it was. There was no mistaking that great black fellow. It was Buster Bear.

What to do Danny didn't know, so he did nothing. He simply crouched right where he was under that little pile of leaves and wished that he could shrink into nothing at all. Yes, sir, that is what Danny wished. Buster stopped and raked over some leaves with his great paws, at the same time sniffing among them with his nose. Every sniff sent a shiver over Danny. Buster picked up something and ate it. What it was Danny didn't know, but he did know that if Buster should find a certain little Meadow Mouse under the leaves he would treat it in just the same way.

Danny wanted to run. Never in all his life had Danny wanted to run as he did right that minute. But there was nowhere to run to. He didn't know of a single hiding place. Buster Bear hadn't found him yet and didn't know that he was anywhere about. If he should run, Buster would be likely to see or hear him, while, if he sat still, Buster might not rake over that pile of leaves. So Danny sat still.
